Professional Profile

I am a web developer student with a strong interest in projects that require both conceptual and analytical thinking. I am always interested to learn more from anyone - regardless of the industry they are working in. I have achieved few years of working experience on IT-support and in administration role in different reputed organizations. My passion lies in learning about the latest technologies. I am looking to expand my knowledge in the industry.

My greatest strength is my quickest learning capability and adapt to new situations, configurations and technologies.
